SCOUTS TO VISIT INDIANS AT HOME

Pamunkey Tribe Invites Local Troops to Spend Day and Night at Reservation.

CHIEF COOKE LIKES THEM

Motion Pictures at City Auditorium Drawing Large Crowds Each Night.

Acting on an invitation from Chief Cooke, of the Pamunkey Indians, a ommittee from the Richmond Scout Council, is considering the feasibility of taking the youngsters to the reser vation near White House, on the York River, probably on Thanksgiving Day. The Scouts will spend the day and Chief Cooke and members of his tribe who took part in a sideshow at the State Fair, were greatly impressed with the work of the Scouts on duty at the grounds, and became deeply in-terested in the movement. The chief struck up an acquaintance with a num-ber of the boys, and when the idea of having them become his guests was auggested, he immediately prepared a formal invitation, and is looking forward to the visit almost as sagerly as the boys themselves.

Committee Now at Work.
The committee, which consists of Aubrey Hawkins, chairman, and G. B. Williams and R. M. Booth, is working on the matter, are as soon as its plans are completed, each scoutmaster will be notified, and arrangements for the trip will be made. There are now wenty-two regularly organized troops f Scouts in this city, and five more roops are in process of organization, n all, there are about 400 Scouts aiendy errolled.

Most of the Scouts will gain the conent of their parents to visit the Inlans. It is expected that the party will leave here early on the morning f Thanksgiving Day, and will camp but night on the reservation.

of Thanksgiving Day, and will camp that night on the reservation.

Chief Cooke proposes to have his tribe give a regular war dance. This, with the glamour of seeing a real redskin home, will be sufficient, if the noted hospitality of the Pamunkeys was not enough, to bring any red-blood.

Mr. Jones said last night that the canvassers had been met everywhere with the greatest cordiality, and in a large number of instances' the promises to pay poli taxes had been promptagive number. Nearly all of the doubtful men who would not make definite promises, put their refusal on the ground of the immense amount of red tape connected with qualifying and registering. registering.

A case that was typical was that of a railroad engineer, a man draw-ing good pay, owning his home and living comfortably, who drew out his wallet and offered to pay the canvassor whatever poll taxes might be assessed against him, but said he could not at-ford to take a day off to go to the City Hall in the limited business hours to make his payment. Some others were found who had been to the City Hall, urer, the Commissioner of the Revenue the Clerk of the Hustings Court, and their own precinct registrar, had become utterly bewildered, and had reached the conclusion that the election laws were designed to prevent

Chairman Jones said last night that he had only praise for the faithful and efficient work of the members of the registration committee. They will be given a day off to-day, and on Monday night will endeavor to see that every single block in the city is visitedthat not a single white man of voting age can say that he has not been asked in the interests of good citizenship to pay his poll taxes and take part in the selection of city and State officers
